Wednesday Games

Run & Hide

Aura

(pairs, low activity)

Stand facing your partner about arms length away. Reach out and touch palm with closed eyes. Stand there a minute and feel the Spirit rushing around and between you both. With eyes still closed, drop hands and turn around three times. Reconnect your hands together and then open your eyes. (edit: this game is almost impossible for me as I have a small tumor on the balance nerve in my brain and I almost never end up facing the same way as I began. lol)

Schmerltz

(2 – 50+, Moderate activity)

This is a toss a catch game. The first task is to create a Schmerltz. To make one, take a long “tube” type sock and a soft rubber ball ideally. You can also use a tennis ball. Drop the ball into the sock and tie a knot in the sock just above the ball.

Throw the Schmerltz to each other and note that the only acceptable way to catch a Schmerltz is by the tail. I bet your family can come up with all kinds of fun games to play with a Schmerltz.
